PRICE THREE CENTS.

Slayer of Bank Messengers Not To Die in Chair

Governor Smith Commutes Pantano's Death Sentence to Life Imprisonment on Day Set for His Execution—Three Companions Paid Death Penalty.

Albany, N. Y., March 4.—Anthony Pantano will not die in the electric chair at Sing Sing tonight for the murder of two Brooklyn bank messengers.

Governor Smith today commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment.

The Governor said he spent, all told, more than seven hours in studying every detail of the case, and that he finally came to the conclusion there was a reasonable doubt that Pantano should go to the chair.

Three other youths, Morris and Joseph Diamond and John Farina, already have paid the death penalty for the slaying of the bank messengers.

Pantano, who at one time worked in the bank, was charged with giving information which led to the robbery and slaying. He claimed he was forced, under threat of his life, to give the information.

Had Three Trials.

He was tried three times. The first time he was convicted but the court of appeals granted him a new trial. The second time the jury disagreed. The third time he was convicted and the court of appeals upheld the conviction by a vote of four to three.

Finds Doubt Among Judges.

The Governor, in commuting the sentence wrote in part: "The history of the various trials of Pantano indicates the existence of an element of doubt that cannot be lightly dismissed. Upon his first trial, which resulted in conviction, the court of appeals reversed the judgment of the lower court. Upon his second trial, the jury disagreed and he was discharged. He was tried a third time and convicted. The court of appeals sustained that conviction by a four to three vote. Upon both appeals fourteen votes were cast, seven in favor of Pantano and seven against him upon the same set of facts, so that we find the element of doubt existing throughout the history of the case.

Power Delegated to Governor.

"It is not within my province to try the case. That has been done. The jury rendered its verdict upon the facts and Pantano is adjudged guilty. With that judgment there can be no disagreement but the reserve power of the state to consider matters inside and outside of the case itself rests with the governor.

Saying Farewells When Told.

Ossining, N. Y., March 4.—Warden Lewis E. Lawes brought the good news to Pantano as the doomed youth was bidding farewell to his sobbing brother and sister through the wire screen of the death cell.

"The superintendent just called to say that the governor has commuted your sentence," Warden Lawes announced.

"Thank God!" exclaimed Pantano. "Do my people know? Please telephone them right away."

Pantano, his brother, Paul, and his sister, Annetta, dropped to their knees on the hard prison floor and prayed.

With Joseph and Morris Diamond, brothers, and John Farina, all of whom have been executed, Pantano was convicted of murdering William Barlow and William McLaughlin, messengers for the West End Bank in Brooklyn, N. Y., during a $43,000 holdup on the platform of an elevated railroad station on November 14, 1922.

Dr. Amos O. Squire, medical examiner of Westchester county, and former Sing Sing prison physician, said today that Farina told him on more than one occasion that Pantano was innocent.

ROBERT PRINCE, N. Y. CONGREGATIONAL MINISTER.

The annual congregational dinner of the Robert Princeton Church will be held this evening at 6:30. The dinner will be served by members of the Ladies Aid Society of the church, and the speaker of the evening will be the Rev. Dr. Bernhard of New York.

Exceptional Views On Mission Work.

At the mid week prayer service of the First Baptist Church of this city, the pastor will give a sermon on "The New York City," recently known by the Board of Christian Missions at Chicago, and the speaker of the evening will be the Rev. Dr. Bernhard of New York.

119 Killed by Autos in January

Fifty-five Less Than Number Killed in New York State in January, 1925—Harnett Encouraged by "Good Start."

Albany, N. Y., March 4.—Automobiles took a death toll of 119 persons in New York state in January, 55 less than the corresponding month last year. A total of 3,902 persons were injured in automobile accidents last month.

Commenting on the accidents, Charles S. Harnett, state motor vehicle commissioner, said:

"It is encouraging to note that we got off to a good start in 1926. The figures for the first month of the new year prove conclusively that our campaign for safety is meeting with consistent results."

Statistics show 34 intoxicated drivers caused four deaths and injuries to 30 persons last month.

A total of 464 children were hurt by autos while playing in the streets, and 653 adults were injured while crossing streets.

Exceeding the speed limit caused 225 accidents in January. The skidding of cars caused 768 accidents.

Although automobile driving in rural communities is limited during the winter months, there were 12 accidents at railroad grade crossings last month, six of which resulted in deaths. Four of these deaths occurred at unguarded crossings.

Commissioner Harnett said he felt certain that 1926 would witness a substantial reduction in the accident hazard.

"The public interest in the New York State Safety Congress to be held at Albany, March 11, 12 and 13, is very gratifying," Harnett said. "It is another indication that the people are greatly concerned with the successful operation of the motor vehicle law, and that we can depend on unusual cooperation from the public this year. It is the only way, I am convinced, that a measurable degree of safety of the highways can be guaranteed."

Two Hurt When Train Derails

Rockland, Mass., March 4.—Passengers were shaken up, a fireman was injured and an engineer was slightly hurt today when a New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad two-coach train on the Hanover Branch Line figured in a derailment here today.

In backing over the highway crossing, which was coated with snow and ice, the locomotive was derailed, hauling the tender and the first coach from the track.

Fireman A. J. Nicholson, of Plymouth, the most seriously injured was taken to Rockland Hospital.

Engineer J. H. Sylvia, of Provincetown, was slightly hurt. The train was in charge of Conductor E. J. Rogers, of Hanover.

Passengers in both coaches were shaken up as the derailed coach bumped over the ice-coated ground. Three train left Hanover at 8:50 a. m. and carried many commuters to Boston. It was due here at 9:03 a. m.

In backing over the crossing here the locomotive in some manner skipped the rails, carrying with it the tender and the first coach.

The derailed locomotive and coach came to a stop within two feet of the combination house and store of Maurice Caplice on Hudson street.

There were forty passengers on the train. First reports said that ten were slightly injured but a checkup disclosed that none were hurt.

The engineer and fireman were burned by steam in the locomotive cab.

The two cars were being backed up to be attached to a Boston bound train. The locomotive was behind the tender.

Kiwanis Club Pledges Support

At the noon day meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis Club at the "Y" today the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "We pledge our cooperation to the Kingston City Hospital management in the rehabilitation of the hospital after the recent disastrous fire to the fullest extent of our ability."

The attendance prize was won by Frank L. Brown.

The address of the day was delivered by the Rev. Arthur S. Cole, pastor of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, who delivered an interesting talk on "The Functions of the Ministry."

GENERAL FUNDING IS GREATLY IMPROVED

Washington, March 4.—Although greatly improved it will be some weeks before Gen. John J. Pershing is able to leave the hospital, army physicians said today. The general has had all his teeth removed to correct a problem condition in his system.

He may soon be transferred from the Walter Reed Army Hospital here to Johns Hopkins at Baltimore.

Family Trapped as Smoke Fills House

Fire in Apartment of Walter Gammel at 460 Broadway Filled Building With Dense Smoke—Firemen Assisted Mother and Four Children From House.

Trapped in their smoke filled apartment at No. 460 Broadway at 7:50 o'clock Wednesday evening, Mrs. Walter S. Gammel and her four children were assisted from the building by members of the fire department who had responded to the alarm of fire.

The fire had started from a pasteboard carton used as a container for ashes from the stove and when the firemen arrived it was to find the rooms and hall choked with smoke. Learning that Mrs. Gammel and her children were trapped in their apartment, the firemen fought their way through the dense clouds of smoke and throwing blankets over the heads of the woman and children led them safely out of the building.

With dense smoke pouring out of the building it was at first thought that the fire would prove a hot one and hose was stretched and ladders raised, but they were not needed as the fire was extinguished with chemicals as soon as the source was located. The damage was mostly confined to smoke. Throwing open all the windows the apartments were soon cleared.

Licenses Revoked And Suspended

Four Kingstonians Included Among Motorists Whose Licenses Were Either Revoked or Suspended by State Motor Vehicle Commissioner.

Albany, March 4. (Special).—Revocations and suspensions of automobile registrations and drivers' licenses were announced today for the last two weeks of January by Commissioner Charles A. Harnett of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. There were 50 revocations and 257 suspensions throughout the state, of which 25 revocations and 196 suspensions were in the New York city districts.

Among those who had their license revoked was Oscar Coddington, 39 Railroad avenue, Kingston, for violation of the rules governing issuance of license.

Those who had their licenses suspended included: Joseph Charles, 45 Murray street, Kingston, driving a car while intoxicated.

Oliver Foster, Route 4, Kingston, charged with driving a car while intoxicated.

Chester G. Osterhout, 14 Janet street, pending investigation of an accident.

Stout's Auto Hit by Train

Fred Stout, the well known baseball pitcher of Connolly, while driving over the Cornell street crossing of the Ulster & Delaware railroad in his Ford car shortly after six o'clock Wednesday evening, was in collision with a passenger train. The crossing is somewhat obscured from view by the freight house and freight cars on the siding, and Mr. Stout was on the crossing before he realized the danger.

The auto hooked onto the step of a mail car and Mr. Stout, realizing the seriousness of his position, turned his steering wheel so that his car was headed in the same direction of the moving train which went some distance before being stopped and the auto could be released.

The Ford was somewhat damaged but Mr. Stout and Henry Cragin of Wilbur who was riding with him escaped unhurt.

SAUGERTIES PASTOR GETS ANONYMOUS COMMUNICATION.

The Rev. J. C. Coddington, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist Church at Saugerties, has received a threatening anonymous communication. Mr. Coddington states positively that he has never written an anonymous letter to any person and has no way of knowing who sent the letter which reads in part as follows: "Therefore I demand that you apologize to me in person or suffer the consequences. Which I will not name at this time."

I will follow your lead and not sign my name because I know you know who I am, although you do not know what I am. If you do not meet my terms, I will make you and your family suffer. I will show myself to be a worthy of you."

ANNUAL MEETING OF MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will be held Friday afternoon at three o'clock at 729 Broadway, with Mrs. H. B. Brichman and Mrs. H. S. Brichman as hostesses. The program will be as follows: Devotions, Mrs. J. S. Thompson; annual reports and election of officers; addresses of Mrs. William Carter, Mrs. Marian Brichman, current events, Mrs. J. T. Brichman, vocal solo, Mrs. H. S. Brichman, 329 W. W. street.

Trolley Road Received Four Busses Today

Arrived Over West Shore Railroad Earl This Morning—Expect to Resume Bus Service Early Next Week.

The Kingston Consolidated Railroad received four of the six new busses early today. The busses arrived over the West Shore railroad shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, and will be unloaded today or Friday. The trolley company has notified New York of the arrival of the busses and a man will be sent on to superintend the unloading of the busses and will give them a thorough test before they are placed in commission.

It was stated at the office of the trolley road that bus service with the new busses would be started early next week as soon as the new busses had been tested out and found satisfactory.

The new busses have a capacity for twenty-nine passengers each.

Another Auto Suit In Supreme Court

Morris Moskowitz Sued for Repair Bill for Damages Following Collision at Higginville Bridge Approach Last July Loses Suit.

Before Judge Staley in the Supreme court Tuesday afternoon a negligence action brought by James J. Dabney against the Martin Canine Company, was announced settled.

An action brought by George J. Schreyer against Morris Moskowitz to recover for damage to an Overland car which was damaged in a collision on July 21, 1925, was taken up for trial Wednesday afternoon.

Ezra Hurn and Willis Roe were driving a new Overland sedan along the road toward Kingston about 3 o'clock in the morning. The car was stopped at the foot of the incline approach to the Higginville bridge across the Exopus creek to make a minor adjustment to the carburetor. While standing, as witnesses testified, off the macadam portion of the roadway a Ford car passed and immediately behind it was a Hudson touring car driven by the defendant. The Hudson car skidded when the brakes were applied and ran head-on into the Overland car, striking it amidship.

The fenders, running board, splash apron, rear wheel and running board brackets were smashed and the side of the car body damaged. The rear tire and tube were also blown out.

Witnesses testified that the Hudson car was proceeding at about 25 miles an hour as it descended the viaduct and crossed the bridge. The Overland car was well off to the right of the road. Sergeant Cunningham of the State Troopers, who came along shortly after the accident, testified that all four wheels were clear of the macadam. He observed skid marks on the road which were traced to the Moskowitz car.

Moskowitz resides in New York and during the summer is at Fleischmanns, N. C. Connolly appeared for the plaintiff and Charles R. Watson, by Frank W. Brooks, appeared for defendant.

The Overland car was repaired and Mr. Schreyer, who is local dealer for Overland and Willys-Knight cars, sued to recover for the damage done.

A verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $386.25 was returned by the jury.

Lake Wins Verdict In Suit on Note

A verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $342.12 was returned by the jury which heard the evidence in the action on a note brought by Emerson J. Lake against Mabel and Edward Barton. The action was to recover $423.91 on a promissory note given by Mr. and Mrs. Barton to Mr. Lake when a partnership existed between Barton and Lake was dissolved.

Mr. Barton refused to pay the note, claiming that an account made at the time of the dissolution and the giving of the note was not correct. Frank W. Brooks appeared for plaintiff and F. C. Merritt for the defendants.

LIGHT WINES AND BEER FOR RED SOX

Killed When Horses Ran Away

George W. Beesmer of Stony Hollow was accidentally killed Wednesday at Kerhonkson when the team of horses he was driving became frightened and ran away. Mr. Beesmer was returning from the railroad station where he had unloaded hoops for shipment. The horses became frightened and started off on a reckless dash on the return trip to the farm near Kerhonkson, with the result that the driver, Mr. Beesmer was hurled from the seat of the wagon to the ground.

Soon after the mishap Dr. Fuller of Kerhonkson happened along and upon examination saw that the man was in a very critical condition with injuries to his head. Dr. Fuller had his patient rushed immediately to the Veterans' Memorial Hospital at Ellenville but he died before reaching the institution. Death was due to concussion of the brain.

Mr. Beesmer who was in the sixty-third year of his age was a resident of Stony Hollow and was working at a farm near Kerhonkson. The funeral will be held from the late residence at Stony Hollow on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment in Woodstock Cemetery.

Reason for Market's Break

Several Months of Anti-Bullish Tendencies, Climaxed by Barring of Rail Merger Gives as Main Reason—Speculative Center in New York Effected.

Washington, March 4.—Sudden and sensational as was the break in the New York Stock Market, after a year of bullish activities, the re-entry of the bears with heavy price recession is without effect on the American industrial and commercial situation, according to the government's financial experts today.

After a close study of the market's break, experts declared that the bear movement has not touched the fundamentals of national business economics, but is limited to the speculative district in New York.

The collapse of the market was inevitable, according to officials, several months of anti-bullish tendencies having been climaxed by the disapproval by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the Van Sweringen rail merger.

Other factors contributing to the break were given as follows: Demand of large banks for larger margin of security on speculative loans or loans on stock.

Publication of unexpectedly larger brokers' loans through Federal Reserve Board and New York Stock Exchange.

Suits instituted by Department of Justice, to halt food and bread mergers, and investigations of big combinations by the Federal Trade Commission.

Higher interest rates particularly on call money.

Finis was spelled for the long period of rising prices when the government assumed a hostile attitude toward big business mergers, officials explained.

The lack of these mergers, along with the certainty of tax reduction, excellent domestic conditions, and the improved situation in foreign trade, tended to boost stocks abnormally from the speculative standpoint.

Slump Will Help Security Markets

Is Belief in Banking Circles, Which See No Reason for Calling Crash a Panic—London Not Alarmed Over Drop.

New York, March 4.—Banking circles reacted normally today to the sensational trading on the New York Stock Exchange this week, and the consequent sharp slump in prices.

The belief was expressed this morning that the security markets are likely to emerge from the present condition in more healthy shape than at any time in months.

Bankers were of the opinion that this week's sensational decline in prices, while greatly influenced by the refusal of the Interstate Commerce Commission to ratify the Nickel Plate merger, was also brought about by the too-heavy technical position of the market, from which a reaction was not a great surprise.

All records for volume of trading on the Exchange were exceeded in yesterday's excited market during which stocks broke from one to thirty points. A total of 3,373,709 shares were traded in among 443 separate issues. The day's trading provided the seventh session in the market's history when more than 3,000,000 shares were dealt in.

Sharp as has been the decline in prices, bankers and other close observers of conditions see no reason to warrant calling the crash anything in the nature of a panic.

London Not Alarmed.

London, March 4.—Lombard Street, London's financial district, today saw no reason for alarm in the slump of prices on the New York Stock Exchange.

"A healthy shake-up," was the way one financier described it.

London markets have thus far been only slightly affected by the slump in New York. Some stocks with American connections dropped slightly in sympathy.

Bryan Planned For Regulation

New York, March 4.—William Jennings Bryan before his death had prepared an amendment to the constitution which would have established the United States as a Christian nation and would have legislated against every Jew, Mohammedan, and Free-thinker, according to Augustus Thomas, the playwright, who nominated Bryan for president in 1908.

Some Filled the House.

No Reason for Drastic Action In Mill Strike

Governor Moore Sees No Reason for Action by State in Passaic Textile Strike—Criticizes Police for Their Handling of Strikers.

Trenton, N. J., March 4.—Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey declared upon his arrival at his office here today from his home in Jersey City that he sees no reason for any drastic action by the state in the Passaic textile strike situation.

"I see no reason for any action by me," the governor said. "The local authorities should be able to handle the situation as it now stands, and I can do nothing until the sheriff of Passaic county calls upon me for assistance."

No preparations have been made to hold troops in readiness for a call, it was announced at the state police headquarters here.

Gas Masks and Helmets.

Passaic, N. J., March 4.—Striking mill workers of Passaic, Clifton and Garfield, following reported brutal attacks on strikers by police, were discussing the advisability today of appealing to Governor A. Harry Moore to proclaim martial law and send troops to protect the strikers.

This development in the textile strike, which has been in progress for six weeks, followed attacks on strikers and newspaper representatives late yesterday as strikers were parading to Clifton.

Strikers went on picket duty this morning wearing gas masks and steel helmets.

Apply for Warrants.

Counsel for the Civil Liberties Union planned to apply for warrants against Police Chief Richard L. Zober and Public Safety Commissioner Abram Fiebel on charges of assault and battery because of the use of tear bombs and fire hose in dispersing the crowd on Tuesday.

Photographers and reporters for New York newspapers were targets of the police in Wednesday's disorders. Cameras valued at more than $5,000 were destroyed and photographers and reporters were clubbed by police and men not in uniform.

Police charged on a crowd of 2,000 marching strikers after small boys had thrown snowballs at the bluecoats. A number of strikers were knocked down by police in motor-cycles, and many others were clubbed by police who charged through the crowd swinging clubs.

Ban N. Y. Newspapers.

The New York newspapers have been banned from sale on the streets of Passaic. Several papers had published pictures of an earlier riot, when strikers were routed by police brandishing their clubs.

No Need for Violence.

The governor said he was opposed to sending state troops or militia-men to the strike district if he could avoid it, as "they would have to help the police."

"I am for the people," Governor Moore added. "I will not allow citizens of the state of New Jersey to be shot down by anyone. There is no need for violence."

We settled a similar strike in Jersey City when I was a city commissioner, and there was no violence.

Critiques Police.

Jersey City, N. J., March 4.—Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey today criticized police of Passaic and Clifton for their handling of striking textile workers and said he might find it necessary to call troops to control the situation.

"My sympathies are with the strikers," he said. "If local police had gone about it the right way the strike could have been ended long ago."

COUPLE DIDN'T KNOW THEY WERE RELATED

Pittsburgh, March 4.—W. D. Clark is believed to have gone to New York today to visit the son and daughter whose marriage to each other he stopped yesterday, although this is denied by Clark.

A letter was received from the son, Herbert Clark, leading man in "The Patry," playing at the Booth Theatre, New York, telling of his forthcoming marriage to Katherine Clark, Secretary to a New York real estate man.

The father wired his son immediately advising of the relationship existing between him and the girl.

Clark was married many years ago at Lebanon, Pa., but a divorce soon followed. He remarried 23 years ago. Herbert is 21.

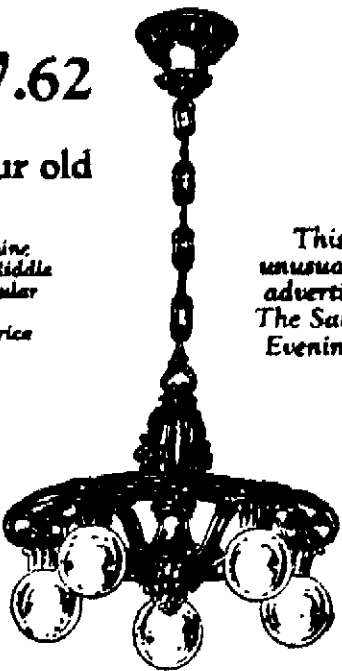

Clark communicated regularly with his daughter by the first marriage, but failed to tell his son of the affair. Neither did he tell his daughter that she had a half-brother.

The couple met a few weeks ago in New York, and a betrothal followed, neither knowing they were related.

Exhibition of Catskills in Art

John Kellogg Woodruff is exhibiting a collection of water colors and drawings that are of especial interest to Kingstonians as most of the subjects deal with the Catskill and Adirondack regions. In fact a number are of views of the Rondout valley and were painted from the garden of Mrs. A. F. Sheldon, West Chestnut street this city. The exhibit is in the Dudeney galleries, No. 15 West 14th street, New York city. Among the subjects covered are:

Drawings.

The Camp at Beechy Bottom, Rockhampton Falls.
A Silvermine on retreat at Silvermine, New York.
Camp Sheldon, The Nevadink, Huesy Hill, near Kingston.
Bridge Over Rondout Creek, Catskill Mountains.

Snow in the Canyon, Haines Falls, April.
Road up Knickerbocker Clove, Indian Head from Quarryville.
Frozen Waterfall, Slide Mountain, Autumn.
Slide Mountain, October.
New Snow in Devil's Kitchen, Hudson Valley.

Bear Mountain Bridge, Sparkill Creek.
Rondout Bridge, Kingston.
The New York World says of the exhibit:

Mr. Woodruff's landscapes are admirable for their force and directness of attack, and for the ample knowledge of form which they express. A fine, healthy vitality breathes in this work. This is its essential merit, and when an artist starts with this indispensable basis he can always find adequate means to convey a sense of it to the beholder. Usually the greatest vitality finds the simplest and most direct means.

Mr. Woodruff's means are thoroughly under his control. He uses his water color with a virtuosity that frequently rises to brilliance, but which never becomes mere ostentatious dexterity because the motivating emotion always directs and dominates it. Among the pictures is a waterfall which is especially remarkable for its freshness and spirit, and for the economy of means with which the thing is done.

All the water colors are of landscape subjects, but among the drawings are several studies of nude figures which are impressive for their understanding of form.

The Rev. and Mrs. George W. Guilek of Ulster Park spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Newton Crapper and sisters on Ulster avenue.

It was noted to extend a call to the Rev. John Alexander of Milltown, N. Y., to fill the pastorate of the Reformed Church of this village at a meeting of the consistory held on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Alexander is a man of unusual qualifications and, if he accepts will prove a valuable acquisition to the religious forces of Saugerties.

All members of the American Legion Auxiliary who expect to attend the county meeting to be held in Kingston on March 6 will kindly notify Miss Ziegler before Thursday.

Bobby Van Voorhis of Ulster avenue, who has been very ill for the past few weeks with scarlet fever, underwent a second operation for mastoiditis at the Esder Sanatorium, Kingston, on Monday afternoon by Drs. Craverton and Gifford. Bobby is resting as comfortably as possible.

There will be no Women's Church Service League meeting this month on account of the Lenten service which will be held on the date of the regular meeting.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church will meet at the home of Mrs. E. C. Lewis on Elm street tonight.

Miss Coletta Ruelher of Troy spent the past few days with Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ruelher on Washington avenue.

The four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Brown of Russell street is ill with scarlet fever.

Mayor Gillespie, William F. Keenan, John F. Carrington and J. Charles Suderley of this village were in New York city on business on Monday.

Hiroshi Saito, consul general of Japan in New York, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Poultney Bigelow at Maiden-on-Hudson recently.

In the mortgage action of Louis Jaeger against W. J. Gordon and Helen Gordon, the property was sold by Clyde F. Gardner, as referee, at the Maxwell House on Tuesday morning for Mr. Jaeger for $200.

The property is located on Valley street.

The annual convention of the Greene and Ulster Masonic district will be held in the rooms of Ulster Lodge No. 123, at Saugerties next Monday afternoon and evening.

The meeting will be in charge of R. W. Horace W. Smith of Port Byron, N. Y., the grand lecturer of the grand lodge of Masons of the state of New York. District Deputy Grand Master Dale S. Baldwin of New Baltimore, Justin I. Schoonmaker of Ellenville, assistant grand lecturer, will be present.

The past matrons of Emmanuel Chapter, No. 217, O. E. S., of this village will serve the refreshments to the visiting Masons.

From Experience?

Elmer Glyn said at a Hollywood tea:

"Young girls are too idealistic. They demand perfection. Well, perfection doesn't exist."

"A young girl and her young man rose from a dim seat in a conservatory. The breast of the young man's coat was white with perfumed powder."

"The girl was embarrassed, but he patted her head and said: 'Never mind, darling; it will soon brush off.'"

"The heart late despairing sob: 'Oh, she walked: 'how do you know?'"

Albany Center

Once, a community of 2,000 persons in central Nebraska, is said to have been the largest alfalfa market in the United States. Records of alfalfa shipments of alfalfa from Conrad to the last seven years show that from 1,100 to 1,200 cars a year are shipped. In addition, the statistics of Carr and Wilcox listed, near the ship from 300 to 350 cars a year. This country, of which Conrad is the capital, breeds Nebraska in hay production, while 1923 crop figures show that the Connecticut state leads the nation in alfalfa raised to the crop—Indiana and Texas.

THE KINGSTON FIRE DEPARTMENT

Answered thirty-four alarms in January. In most cases the damage was small but the danger period is not yet past. Using gas stoves, oil stoves and various substitutes for hard coal greatly increases the fire hazard and we urge all good citizens to be on their guard. Call the fire department promptly on discovery of a fire. Five minutes' delay may mean the loss of thousands of dollars. And last but not least—KEEP YOUR PROPERTY PROPERLY INSURED.

Cape Is Popular for Spring Wear

Stylish Garment to Match Dress or Be Worn as Real Wrap.

Dame Fashion sponsors the cape for spring wear. It may be short or long or medium, but it must be a cape. A very attractive suit of beige serge, worn by a prominent actress, featured a cape which, as did the dress, had decorations of brown wooden buttons and a futuristic handkerchief in brilliant hues—hanging from one of the pockets. A chic sports hat of brown felt embroidered in gold thread completed the stunning costume.

We have capes this year to match the tweeds and kasha dresses and to be used as real wraps. When a heavy sports dress had a cape last year it was a tiny shoulder affair attached at the back and really more of a collar in its proportions than a cape. The capes this year are very smart, wide just below the hips, fitted to the shoulder and worn as a wrap. Many of these are uneven, shorter in front and sweeping down a little toward the back. Some of the capes are scalloped and pointed around the bottom. Chiffon capes to match the evening frock are not exactly new this season, having been introduced last spring in the South, but they were seen seldom enough last year to make

Taffeta Supper Frocks

In these days of night clubs the taffeta supper dress is either of chiffon or tulle. One taffeta supper frock is of yellow sheer tulle with the narrow black lace between layers behind them in front. The bodice is black with no sleeves and has a little black lace bow on one shoulder. The shoulders show the tulle both through and between them and are caught up to front to break the circle.

Black Lumber in Log

A log estimated to contain 8000 feet of lumber was taken to a saw in Kingston, Ont., from Ryerwood. It was cut from a Douglas fir and measured 30 feet in length, 20 feet in diameter at one end and 14 feet 4 inches at the other.

 John Henry E. McDonald was in Kingston on Wednesday.

MISS WILLS FINDS LITTLE OPPORTUNITY
 Newton, March 4.—Miss Wills continued her almost unhampered progress in the Newton Tournament today when she defeated Miss Leonard of England, 6-1, 6-1.
 The American girl's steady play and the lack of sufficiently strong opponents for her, is causing a drop in interest in the tournament.
 Miss Wills had no difficulty with her opponent today and is not likely to have any real work until the finale when she will meet either Miss Leonard or Seaboard Alvarez.
 Another one of these players offers any real menace to Miss Wills, but they are capable of giving her a game.

LOSERS FIGHT TO SAVE SON FROM THE GALLOWS
 Washington, March 4.—The Rev. J. Milton Thompson, of Far Rockaway, New York, today lost his final effort to save from the gallows his son, Lieut. John S. Thompson, sentenced to death for the murder of Andrew Burleigh, daughter of an army officer in the Philippines.
 The White House said President Coolidge's approval of the court martial verdict stood as final, and the case would not be reopened.

Darkman Will Die in Chair
 Buffalo, N. Y., March 4.—Justice Brown today sentenced Edward Darkman to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison during the week of April 12, after a jury returned a verdict of guilty in his trial on a charge of murder first degree for participation in the art work shop robbery in the killing of Ward J. Pierce, partner. The jury had deliberated more than 42 hours.

MOXIELAND,
BOSTON, MASS.Care of Health
Should Be Habit

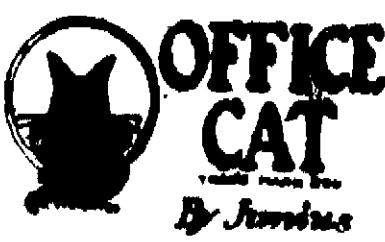

Child's Physical Functions Need Regularly and Constant Treatment for Health Well-Being—How Administration May Be Used.

Ithaca, N. Y., March 4.—"Everything to do with the health of a child should be taken care of regularly," is the advice of Dr. Nellie Perkins of the state college of home economics here. She spoke at a recent conference at the college and said: "No nonsense should be permitted to interfere with feeding, sleeping, glasses of water, toilet needs, or any other routine things which must be done each day."

"Bed-time should be at the same hour every day. The child should have a quiet half hour before going to bed to relieve the excitement of the day and should then undress and get in without any fuss or delay. The adult, after saying good night, putting out the light, and raising the window, should leave the room immediately. The child dislikes to feel that he is missing anything but if he is made to understand that children of his age naturally go to bed at the stated time and then when he gets older he may stay up later, he will cooperate more readily. This program should be the same whether adults have company, go out in the evening or stay at home, but he should be told what is going to happen from the beginning to avoid trouble."

"Meal-time is as important as bed-time. The attitude of the adult has a great influence on the child's food habits. The child enjoys attention and if he can get it by refusing food or making a scene, he is apt to do so. The parent should present the food attractively with the attitude that to eat it is the sensible thing to do, and that it is the child's own affair whether he eats it. This appeals to the child's ego, and he usually does as he is expected to without losing his feeling of controlling the situation."

"Children frequently have a great admiration for either their father or their mother, of which the parent may be quite unconscious. Such an admiration leads to imitation, so it is essential that the adult offer a good example."

A man was saved from hanging by advertising. We know some who'd hang before they'd advertise.

Many a man is out of debt simply because he can't break in.

We're Tired of Investigations. "Ma Ferguson Losing Her Supporters."—Headline.

The Swiss Fisherman.

The boy stood on the burning deck.

The breaking waves dashed high.

Should auld acquaintance be forgot?

Comin' through the rye?

Just a song at twilight.

When the lights are low.

Under the spreading chestnut tree.

Where the corn and 'tatoes grow.

I've been workin' on de railroad.

All de livelong day.

Oh, what fun it is to ride.

In a one-horse open sleigh!

I am old, so old.

I can write a letter.

Day by day, in every way.

I'm getting better.

Smile the while.

You kiss me sad adieu.

'Tis three o'clock in the morning.

Because they all love you.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead.

Who never to himself hath said.

Shoot if you must this old gray head.

But give us this day our daily bread.

'Twas the night before Christmas.

By the dawn's early light.

When'er the deck the captain shouted.

"Curfew shall not ring tonight!"

It was in a forest primal.

Where the old Flotilla lay.

Carry me back to Virginia.

When you come to the end of a perfect day.

Sail on, O Ship of State.

And let the rest of the world go by.

And for bonny Auntie Laurie.

I'd lay me down and die.

When you and I were young, Maggie.

When Knighthood was in flower.

Hardly a man is now alive.

Who remembers that famous hour.

Light a mighty army.

Going on before.

I have a little shadow—

Quoth the raven: "Nevermore."

Somewhere a voice is calling.

Everywhere I roam;

Ever since the day Sally went away.

There's no place like home.

Too many people ruin their happiness trying to get the joy out of life.

Eve was satisfied with a fig leaf dress because there was no other woman in the garden trying to out-dress her.

Wife—I notice that you cut an article on "How to Live to Be a Hundred" out of the magazine. Why did you do that?

Hub—I was afraid your mother might read it.

"Old friend, I pity you!"

"Why?"

"I have bought my wife a new dress and she has gone to show it to your wife!"

The stork brought Pete a baby boy.

So chubby and so sweet.

He looked so much like daddy that they named the lad Repete.

Young folks used to kiss each other when they went through tunnels. Now they don't wait for tunnels.

"It's the little things that fill the stockings that count," said the old man as he cast a sly glance at the young damsel with the short skirt boarding the street car.

But, after all, petting parties probably are not as bad as scrapping parties.

No wife cares how little her husband is if he makes a big salary.

HIGH WOODS.

High Woods, March 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Louderback of Brooklyn were guests at S. V. York's last week.

The sermon of Mr. Senn, a theological student from the New Brunswick Seminary on February 21 from the text Galatians 6:14, made a favorable impression on the audience.

Richard Conlon had a radio installed last week. Nathan Carlo also had a new one put in his home.

A double birthday party was held at Leslie E. Snyder's, February 22 in honor of his two boys, Edward L. and Leroy W. Edward's birthday was February 16. On account of sickness the usual party was postponed until Leroy's came. The two cakes were a delight to the little boys when brought in lighted with eight and six candles to tell their age to the guests present, who were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snyder, Edna Snyder, Carl Snyder, Anna Snyder, Charles Snyder.

Frances H. Pallen was here again Sunday. Her sermon based on Matt. 23:13 had three points. Go, teach, baptize, and observe with the theme of "The Kingdom of Heaven which is observed that day."

Mrs. Victor Longfellow spent a day with her sister-in-law, Mrs. S. V. York last week.

At the postponed meeting of the William W. Loring Club, February 22, twenty-one members were present and five visitors. The next monthly meeting will be held on March 10 in the church hall.

THE BLABBERCOCK.

The blabbercock, or voracious cotton moth, as it is known in some parts, during the winter inhabits dark closets and wardrobes, where it consumes all the cotton goods it can lay its hands on. During the recent fad for silk and wool clothing, it has been forced to migrate southward, where it can find enough cotton directly in the fields or in bales. It is not known where the term blabbercock came from, as it is a most silent creature, and only once in a great while utters a slight grunt while sleeping.

This blabbercock is shown asleep in a reclining position after eating several bales of cotton in a southern warehouse. Its head is a paper-shell peccan with clove ears attached, and the body is a large fiber. The wings, which are here crossed over its stomach, are split peanuts, and the feet are split almonds. The facial expression is pen and ink. (Metropolitan Newspaper Service.) (Tomorrow—The Toggiebird.)

BEWARE THE
COUGH OR COLD
THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocodile that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocodile is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocodile, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocodile goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

THE OPOSSUMS

The little gray and white opossum with the long nose was curled up in the corner of his cage in the zoo. He appeared to be sleeping very soundly.

But after a while he uncurred himself, blinked his eyes and looking at the opossum in the adjoining cage, said:

"It will take me a long time to get over my habit."

"I suppose it will," said the other opossum, known as Oscar, while the opossum who had been sleeping was known as Oporto Opossum.

"He thought that a nice name. In fact it was a nice name."

"You see," said Oporto, "that you have been in the zoo a longer time than I have."

"That's true, I have," agreed Oscar Opossum, blinking his eyes.

"It really makes a lot of difference," said Oporto, "because you have grown used to the zoo ways."

"That is true, too, I have," said Oscar Opossum, once more.

"Now I," said Oporto, "have only been in the zoo a little while."

"Well do I remember my days of looking after myself."

"The only thing I could do to be sure I was safe was to pretend that I was sound asleep—or that I had no life in me."

"Sometimes I have had dreadful experiences!"

"Cruel boys have even kicked me to make sure I wasn't pretending."

"Of course I was pretending—but oh—when I was kicked it took some hard work and some great quantities of will power (if I may speak in this slightly odd opossum fashion) to keep up pretending."

"You may speak any way you like to me," said Oscar Opossum.

"Because," he added, "you see I am an opossum, too. Tell me some more."

"I knew," said Oporto, "that it would keep from being caught to pretend that I was not even alive!"

"I knew that it was the thing which had been given to me to guard me through dangers—the power of playing I was asleep, or so soundly asleep that nothing could awaken me, or that I was simply no longer alive."

"And still, when I hear people coming I pretend I am asleep."

"Yes, even I have in the zoo!"

MARLBOROUGH.

Marlborough, March 4.—The Rev. and Mrs. George E. Montrose, of the Methodist Church, are expected home this week from New Smyrna, Florida, where they have spent the last two months. The Rev. J. D. Piper, who has been filling Mr. Montrose's pulpit during his absence, preached as usual the past Sunday, but the regular pastor will occupy it the first Sunday in March.

Frank Young and family have moved to their new home in Newburgh. W. J. Haviland will not occupy the former Youngs house until later.

An old fashioned dance, with card playing for those who wish to play, will be held Wednesday, March 3, by the Knights of Pythias of Marlborough. The affair will be open to the public. Tickets of admission will include refreshments.

The big dance and fair held by the T. I. O. Club Friday evening, February 13, brought in approximately $1,050 clear with all expenses paid. The money will be applied to the fund for payment for building purchased by Advance Lodge, I. O. O. F.

A number of friends from Marlborough attended the funeral of Patrick Rush of Milton on Monday. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery in Lattintown.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Fowler entertained a number of friends and relatives at a dinner party on Sunday evening in honor of the birthday of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edward Fowler.

Mrs. James Gallagher visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. F. McLean, in Newburgh the past week.

Mrs. John Dushberry of Highland visited her daughter, Mrs. James Shurtler, the past week.

E. J. Carpenter arrived home Saturday after a three weeks' visit in Tampa, Florida.

Mrs. James Downer and Miss Gertrude O'Connor of Newburgh spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. John Downer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Velle entertained Mr. and Mrs. D. G. DeBoer at a farewell dinner Thursday night.

At a meeting of the congregation of Marlborough Presbyterian Church after the services on Sunday morning, February 21, a committee was appointed to visit the North River Presbytery and arrange for the release of the pastor, the Rev. D. G. DeBoer.

Mr. DeBoer has accepted a call to the Congregational Church of Norwich, N. Y., and will leave next week for his new charge. Before he can assume duties in the new denomination he had to be formally released from his membership in the Presbyterian and will later join the Congregational Church. The two denominations are almost exactly similar in purpose doctrine, the chief difference between them being one of governmental system. W. Y. Velle was appointed to represent the session and Wilbur J. Haviland to represent the trustees at the congregation of the North River Presbytery meeting in Poughkeepsie on Monday.

Mr. DeBoer accompanied them. Sunday, February 23, was the last sermon for Mr. DeBoer in his Marlborough Church, where he has served for four years. He left Tuesday, the household furniture going at the same time. Mrs. DeBoer and little daughter, Minette, will remain in Marlborough at the home of her parents for three or four weeks.

The First National Bank of Marlborough moved on Monday across Western avenue to Walter Baxter's restaurant, where it is established and will do business for a short time until the reconstructed permanent quarters are fully prepared for occupancy.

Mrs. L. P. Gaffney and daughters, Anna, Elleen, and Lauren Abrams of New Paltz were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hanigan on Sunday.

Mrs. Robert Cummings of Jersey City spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. John Cooney.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kramer and daughter, Kathryn, of Kingston visited Mr. Kramer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kramer, on Sunday.

The Local Knights of Columbus will hold their annual dance Wednesday, March 17, in St. Mary's Hall.

Mrs. W. H. Clark entertained a number of friends Thursday night.

E. J. Cumiskey and daughter,

Kathryn, visited Mr. Cumiskey's sisters, Mrs. Lucy and Miss Cumiskey, in New Paltz on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Martin and family of Newburgh spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Shurtler, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Goudy spent the first part of the week in New York on a business trip.

Virginia Downer of Newburgh spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Downer.

"DO, do make us an exquisite soap to use all the time—one as heavenly, as delicious, as French soap," they begged us.

"We are sure you can do it—you made our magic, indispensable Lux. Please!"

So we have made Lux Toilet Form!

A true "savon de toilette"—firm, satiny, delicately fragrant! Made it by the very method beauty-wise France uses for her finest toilet soaps. Lux Toilet Form is so fine-textured, so silken smooth. It wears and wears like the imported soaps you have loved.

Satiny, caressing lather—let the water be hard if it wants! Lux Toilet Form's instant lather leaves your skin with that delicious, indescribably exquisite feeling you loved after imported soaps—that same luxurious, fragrant feeling you used to recklessly pay those absurd imported-soap prices for!

In its charming lavender and white wrapper you will find Lux Toilet Form at your druggist's, department store or grocer's. Ask for Lux Toilet Form today. See Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Massachusetts.

UNION CENTER.

Union Center, March 4.—On Friday evening, February 26, the Loyal Workers held their seventh annual banquet at the chapel. A short entertainment was followed by a delicious supper which had been prepared by the committee in charge. The decorations were patriotic and the center piece was a beautiful birthday cake with seven candles. This was baked by Mrs. R. G. Olin. As the lights were dimmed and the candles lighted, Charles Warren, the class president, wished for the class "prosperity." There were thirty-three present.

The Ladies' Aid Society are to hold their meeting this Thursday at the home of Mrs. Joseph Wells. Little Raymond G. Olin celebrated his first birthday on Monday. C. E. meeting next Sunday will be a confectionery meeting, to be led by the president, Allan Coulant. Topic, "Perseverance—In What?" Acts 20:17-24; Heb. 12:1-4. All are welcome.

Missionary Society Meeting.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Fair Street Reformed Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Seelye, 56 Maiden Lane, on Friday at 2 o'clock. Topic, "Our work and workers in China." Leader, Mrs. E. J. McGiffert. Collectors are asked to report.

BEQUEATHED

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHEN I pass over I bequeath
To other folks the wreaths they wreath
And all the trappings of my gloom.
It's nice of you to drape the room
And hang the crepe upon the door;
But I, as I remarked before,
Bequeath them all to all mankind.
Like other things I leave behind.

I leave behind a lot of things
That I won't need when I wear wings.
The hates, the jealousies, the spies,
The talking wrongs and claiming rights.

And wishing this and wanting that,
And other matters folks are at;
Yes, when I pass the portals peared,
Bequeath them to the well-known world.

And, while bequeathing here and there,

I leave you all the dentist's chair,
The strap to which I had to hang,
The bell the driver used to bang,
Umbrellas, gloves and overshoes,
And lots of things I used to use
That still I painfully recall—
To others I bequeath them all.

I leave the celebrated earth
A lot of things of doubtful worth:
The demagogue, the parlor pink,
The poets using purple ink,
The naughty books, the nasty plays—
Oh, I am happy lots of ways.
With lots of things I'm done, I'm through;
Now, folks, I leave them all to you!

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

OUR LITTLE JOURNEY

WITH all the improvements that have been made in recent years in the "art" of living, it is doubtful whether we can get as much out of life as did our forefathers.

They lived more in the open, saw the starry heavens at night, the sunsets and the sunrise, communed with nature until their spirits were attuned to the universe. They were unafraid of hardships, but cowards when it came to practicing deception.

Reverently appreciative of the divine hand that poured out its blessing upon them, they lived and worked by faith, which the men and women of the present era seem to consider of slight use to them, often questioning its virtue.

We are said to be very brave and progressive.

The present generation is not contented anywhere, at home or abroad, constantly seeking adventure, roaming from place to place in quest of contentment and finding it not.

In the larger cities the love of home and home surroundings is but a ghost of such a home-love as that exhibited by Washington, Lincoln, McKinley and Roosevelt.

So, it would seem, that in one way or another, our modern mode of living, instead of building up homes, is strengthening them and bringing families and kin closer together, is forcing humans apart.

Where is to be found, except possibly in the rural districts, that staunch friendship which existed among neighbors only a little while ago?

Where is to be seen that fine, sympathetic love of noble women, who at the cry of a neighbor, would lay aside their own pressing duties to nurse the sick, or provide in winter food and raiment for the destitute?

In our little journey through life are we in our pride, luxury and selfishness forgetting the first commandment, making gods of gold and bowing down to them and serving them?

Turning our back upon homes and home-mates, where are we going?

McCoy's Rinolin Greatest Help
When Constipation Is Chronic

Why Purge Yourself Daily When This Modern Emulsion Will Establish Regular and Natural Bowel Movements in 10 Days or Money Back?

Seems too good to be true, but after you thoroughly remove the wall deposits and expel every particle of poisonous waste from the intestines, the active peristalsis that results will make you forget pills and salts and all purgatives and cathartics for weeks to come.

And when your bowels move regularly as nature intended they should move, what a difference it will make in you—and all for the better.

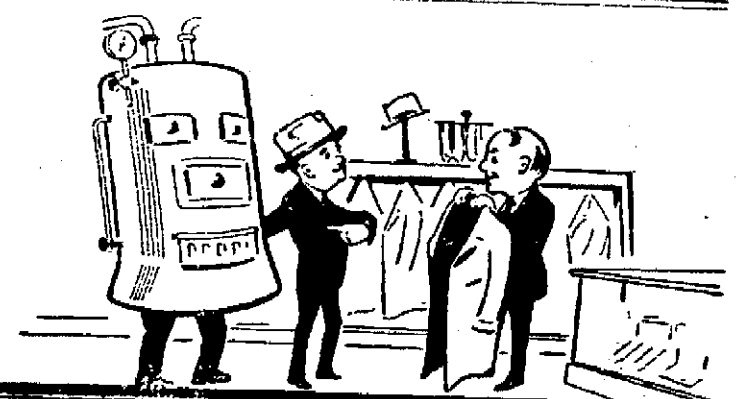

Your skin will be clearer and cleaner for one thing and your eyes will sparkle with healthy brightness; for constipation surely does cause dull eyes and sallow skin.

Yes; and your mind will be keener, too, and vigorous physical activity will take the place of lassitude, tiredness and lack of ambition.

For habitual constipation is a condition that is so unnatural that often the blood becomes polluted with the toxins that seep into every fibre of the system—often causing auto-intoxication.

But now McCoy's Rinolin, the new, pleasant to take emulsion, tells millions of unfortunate victims of constipation that if they will follow directions for ten days—perhaps less—that bowels will become regular and natural and stay that way for many days to come.

McCoy's Rinolin is the new Emulsion that United Retail Chemists, McElrid's Drug Stores, Wm. F. Dedrick's, and druggists everywhere are selling so much of. It is guaranteed to rid you of habitual constipation in 10 days or money back—just follow the directions. Rinolin tonight—Pep tomorrow.

For your Heating System.

Stop wasting fuel.

Insulate your furnace and heating pipes. Force the heat to go where it will make you comfortable. Don't continue to heat your cellar. It is better cool.

Or if your heating system is already covered, is that covering sufficient? What you think is an overcoat may be only a palm beach suit. If it is worth while to save heat why not save all you can?

Have us apply the correct thickness of Johns-Manville insulation—cement for the furnace and improved Asbestocel for the heating pipes. Then you will get more heat from less fuel. The booklet, "Bare Pipes Waste Fuel," tells why. Ask for a copy.

HONEYED SWEETS

Honey is a valuable sweet and when one is supplied with plenty, the craving for other sweets which are not wholesome is satisfied.

Honey is a manufactured sweet, made in the body of the bee from the nectar which has been gathered from flowers. Honey is a concentrated sweet like sugar; it contains more water than sugar and also a little acid. It gives a tang and flavor to hot sauces, is used in sauces of all kinds in place of sugar. When using honey in cakes and such foods the amount of liquid may be reduced one-fourth; otherwise it may be used as a substitute for sugar.

The cake, doughnut or cookie made with honey keeps moist and good-flavored much longer than if sugar were used.

Cheese and Honey Salad.—Take one-half pound of cottage cheese, add cream or butter to moisten and make into small balls for individual serving. Place on lettuce, sprinkle with nuts and serve with.

Honey Salad Dressing.—Take three-fourths of a cupful of water and one-fourth cupful of honey, heat in a double boiler. Mix one teaspoonful of mustard with one-half teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of flour, a dash of paprika and one-fourth cupful of vinegar and add to the first mixture. Beat two egg yolks and add little of the hot mixture to them, return all to the boiler and stir until thick. Add just before serving one-third of a cupful of sour cream.

Piquant Frappe.—Cook one pint of cranberries in one pint of water until soft. Rub through a sieve. Add one cupful of honey to the pulp with the juice of one lemon. Cool, comb and freeze.

Honey Custard.—Beat two eggs and one pint of milk, two tablespoonfuls of honey, one-fourth teaspoonful of cinnamon and a pinch of salt. Pour into buttered custard cups set in a pan of hot water and bake until the mixture is firm.

Two-Piece Frock Draws Attention

Blouse, in New Form, Often Becomes Tunic—Attire
for Resort Wear.

The south of Europe and of this country is a playground to which the world is rushing, and couturiers accordingly are putting their best ideas into the elaborate wardrobe for the resort season, observes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times. Although Paris forecast that white would be less fashionable than here, before, at least half the lovely things one finds among the models submitted by any modiste or in any exclusive shop are in white, though almost invariably with some point of color. The popular fancy for needlework and for colored embroidery is illustrated in many of the new white frocks for the South. On the dresses, wraps, tunics and separate blouses the needlework of European craftsmen is used with picturesque effect. It is considered smart to have a touch of this somewhere in the ensemble. Black and white in various smart combinations is worn at the southern resorts; and in color there is beige, bluish, "pale blue," the new shade of tender yellow-green—apricot, peach, saffron, coral, geranium and all of the pastel shades. In materials the crepes, kashis, prunella, repp, alpaca and the sheer stuffs make up the assortment. Occasional outstanding designs revive taffeta.

The two-piece frock has given especial importance to the blouse, which in the new form often becomes a tunic, cut knee length or to a point midway between the hip and the knee. The straight, unfitted midly shape holds its own. A regulation "tailored" model is considered most modish and is copied even in the most elaborate materials. The indolent habit of dressing in the morning for all day came from Paris in wartime for practical reasons, and the laissez faire attitude of these times has made it acceptable, nowhere more so than at the southern resorts. Two-piece frocks are of crepe de chine, crepe roma or flat crepe, of bengaline, voile, taffeta, or whatever is worn for any sort of occasion from breakfast until tea and often for informal dinners, too. The model is simple as to silhouette, but the fabrics are fine. The plaited skirt is tremendously popular because it gives chic to the appearance of almost any figure and fits well the combination with an overblouse.

Strap Collar, Wristbands. A severely plain frock made of crepe or similar goods, with the narrow strap collar and wristbands, is the popular frock for morning and general daytime wear. The same model expressed in terms of crepe satin with a tunic is translated into a dress suitable for the tea dance, dinner or the evening. It is particularly "dressy" when the skirt is of chiffon with fluttering gulleys or flounces and a kerchief or scarf is worn about the neck. Among the latest things from Paris are tunic blouses of metallic brocade and of metal laces. These are gorgeous affairs. Worn with skirts of white or light tinted materials they make fantastic little suits that are liked especially for restaurant dinners and suppers, though the model is regarded as afternoon dress. The most surprising number of variations are to be had with the same plan as a foundation. In a swagger little frock from Montreal, the blouse, high in the neck and long in sleeves, is made in a plain color. The finely plaited skirt is of two colors, a wide stripe of the contrasting material running through the middle.

The popular idea of wearing a white or light-colored blouse with skirt of black velvet is renewed in some of the new suits, in which the tunic or blouse is worn with a skirt of white plaited crepe de chine. Taffeta has brought out an original ensemble suit of red tulle in which the comtrast is created by trimming the bottom, the sleeves and collar of the upper half, which is really a jacket, with narrow plaitings of white linen. Among the creators of evening dress, Louise Boulanger has done a striking yellow duveton model with a plain skirt, cut with a flare, and a sleeveless V-neck blouse belted in with a narrow strap and rippling over the hips. The lower part of the bodice is embroidered in several colors of floss, with a touch of the same needlework at the neck.

A relief from the tunic blouse is the bolero, which is being shown a lot by some of the best couturiers. In a charming gown from Worth, black chiffon velvet is bound with silver kid and a band of sable fur is seen on the ends of the girdle, which is wound in soft folds about the hips and looped directly in the middle of the front. There are many attractive translations of the bolero, which in the new models is longer than the original in Spanish costumes and sometimes cape-like in effect. One unusually chic suit

Sortie Dress Made of Gray Kashis Cloth, Is Trimmed in Red.

In the bolero style is made in two shades of green. The frock is of flat crepe with plait, rather snugly fitted bodice fastened with a row of small buttons to the elbow collar. The skirt, which is attached to the blouse at the hip line, fits at the top and flares sharply at the bottom. The jacket is of a deeper shade of green chiffon velvet. The sleeves are made of the crepe, with elbow cuffs of velvet.

Some Unusual Things. Among the frocks designed by artists on both sides of the water are some of especial interest to the women who prefer unusual things. A white flat crepe gown lately shown in the theater has a long straight bodice on which is applied at one side, near the hip, a large rose embroidered with green leaves. A modernistic effect is introduced with bits of silver kid. The skirt is finely plaited and the sleeves, also plaited, are made in the full "bishop" model with narrow wristbands of crimson velvet ribbon. The narrow collar cut sailor fashion in front is finished with two jabot ends of the plaited silk, touched with crimson.

In a costume designed especially for the Riviera the couturier departs far from the summer type of frock. This is an ensemble of crepe de chine. The wrapless dress, slender in silhouette, is buttoned down on side from the hip to the hem. The sleeves are long and tight, fastened with buttons from the hand to the elbow, and a wide scarf of the kashis cloth is worn straight across the front of the bodice and crossed in the back, where it forms a V-neckline. It is caught together with three buttons and hangs in loose folds almost to the bottom of the frock. With this costume is worn a close hat of kashis with a slightly rolled brim at the front and the fashionable high crown creased on the top.

Capes Are Smart. Capes are very smart. The feeling for something to wear about the neck and shoulders, seen already in regard of the scarf and shawl, has created demand for capes as a part of the costume. Viewers has designed a lovely model for a young woman, in French blue. The one-piece frock is made simple, with a hot-plaited dounce attached to the untrimmed blouse. The coat, which is cut exactly the same length as the frock, has a deep rolled collar and a cape. In evening dress some charming variations are shown, usually of crepe, chiffon or georgette, in which the cape affords grace and a slight protection against evening cool. An elaborate ensemble from a Paris house of prestige has a softly draped falling drape of white chiffon and a long cape of the chiffon, gathered toward the front and caught with a large flower of white and silver gauze. Several new and attractive illustrations of the cape costume are of two materials. Taffeta in a delicate shade of green is used in one model, with chiffon alternating in wide bands around the skirt. It has a long circular cape made of chiffon in the same shade.

Paying Their Way. Earnings of more than a half-million dollars were made by 1,452 students of Boston University last year. This was made possible through the activities of placement bureaus of the university.

Certainly Not. "Now, Jim, I want you to understand our engagement is absolutely an end." "Ten, Daphne, I get you." "That's just it, you don't."

Little Things of Life That Count

Dr. Seeley Tells Y. W. C. A. Girls That Life of Christ Was Made Up of That Way and Religion Is Expressed in Terms of Service.

There was an unusually large attendance at the Wednesday night supper at the Y. W. C. A. by the Business Girls' Club, called out by the announcement that the Rev. Dr. Seeley would be the speaker. Before his talk and after the excellent supper and singing the girls were regaled by Miss Alma Tyler, chairman of the County Fair to be held later Easter by this group of girls of the need of securing cooperation as well as doing their own work on the part of all of the business girls if they are to make of the fair the success they hope to. Miss Goodsell, chairman of the program committee, said that the girls would have to watch the local papers for a further announcement as to the program for next Wednesday evening. It is expected that a group of girls from the Business Girls' Club of the Newburgh Y. W. C. A. will come to Kingston and tell of their special activities, probably next Wednesday; but if their coming is set for a later day, the Rev. Dr. Seeley will be the speaker so that in any event there should again be a record crowd.

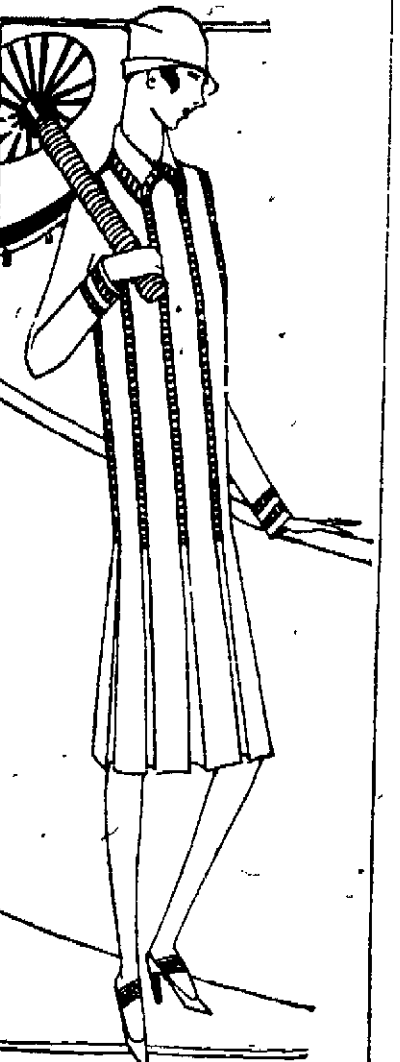

Miss Estey announced that eight of the nine dozen towels given out to the girls to be hemmed for the Kingston City Hospital last Wednesday evening were completed and it was expected that the remaining dozen would be in immediately. Next Wednesday, as a part of their service, other articles needed for the City Hospital will be distributed for the girls to help make as soon as they can after receiving them.

Dr. Seeley was given a rousing welcome by the girls and said that he would talk about "The Religion that everybody believes in." He pointed religion as the life of the spirit and said that the Christian religion was the Christian life. Peter is attempting to tell briefly about Jesus said "He went about doing good." That meant helping in all ways, healing the broken hearted and the broken conditions of society. Dr. Seeley was sure no one would challenge the fact that Jesus Christ was and is the greatest influence in the world today. There are no two sides to that question. He is the master of all spiritual forces, leader of the forces of goodness, yet His life was made up of the daily doing of little things, personal contacts that were helpful. Religion is expressed today in terms of service, glorifying God by seeing how much good we can do in the world and doing it. And so the one religion believed in by everybody was that which the Y. W. stands for loving service.

Southern Clothes are Pastel-Tinted With Vivid Touches in Hats and Accessories.

Palm Beach.—March finds Palm Beach a hectic, happy hunting ground, and this year an unusually colorful one. The first impression of this world famous resort is usually that unless one is dressed, or coated in white, one does not sartorially belong, but this year the reverse is the case. There is always a deal of white worn here, but this season finds it much less important than is usually the case. The white coat has been replaced by the pastel tinted one, or the coat which is loudly patterned in printed flowers such as are to be embroidered on Spanish shawls, or in some futuristic design more violent in coloring than would seem possible to reconcile with good taste.

There are many smart woolen coats, pale pink, corn shades, indigo

White Silk Serge Is Box Pleated From the Shoulder, the Pleats Being Held Flat to the Hipline by Strips of Hand Fagoting, Which is Repeated at the Cuffs and on the Neck Little Turn-Over Collar.

White greens and definite ones, and of course bois de rose and gray. Gray is fairly well represented here this season, but is usually relieved by either white, or a bright color. Bois de rose has a far more general representation, and in the opinion of one whose finger is on the pulse of a discriminating buying public, this color has still far to go before cast into the oblivion of passe shades.

With some very important exceptions, the preference this season is accorded to pastel rather than vivid tones. The exceptions have to do largely with hats, great red straw, deep corals and all exquisite shades of beige, including salmon. On warm days, the Coconut Grove looks like a field of bright flowers, largely because vivid hats are apt to top pastel dresses, sometimes in a contrasting color, sometimes in a more intense version of the gown. Lovebird green and the Larkin greens are exceedingly popular for hats which just naturally fraternize with white frocks. The most approved color schemes are pink and blue, red and yellow and yellow and blue.

NEW HURLEY.

New Hurley, March 4.—Communion service, will be observed Sunday morning, March 4, at 11 o'clock.

The Girls' Club met with Mrs. Charles Jenkins last Saturday afternoon. The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Churchwell.

The sum of $187.75 was solicited by Mrs. Edgar Radiker and Mrs. George Wilken in the New Hurley congregation for the months of November and December, 1925. This was done in place of having any socialables during these two months.

The roast beef dinner held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Van Kleeck last Wednesday was a success. All enjoyed the beautiful supply of good things to eat as well as the social afternoon. Proceeds amounted to $45.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Traphagen of Newburgh spent Washington's Birthday with Mrs. Shay and Mrs. Traphagen.

ROCK HILL.

Rock Hill, March 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Will Buler were called to New York city on Sunday to attend the funeral of Joseph Kesselmark. Mr. Kesselmark had been ill for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Countryside are recording congratulations over the arrival of twin girls on February 25. Mother and babies are doing fine.

Mrs. Martha Krom has returned home after spending a short time with her sister in Kingston.

Word has been received here of the death of Miss Edith Schoonmaker at the City Hospital in New York.

Mrs. Pauline Makowsky of New York city has been spending a week with friends in this place.

What Mrs. A. Taylor, 139 Pearl St., Says:

Makes week's wash whiter than ever with half the work—and lengthens life of clothes!

New kind of soap soaks clothes cleaner than you could rub them.

MILLIONS of women now get their family wash cleaner, whiter and sweeter than ever—quickly, safely, and without putting their hands to a washboard!

No need now to scrub the life out of clothes. No more parboiled washday hands. Just soak the week's wash in Rinso suds overnight, or an hour or two in the morning. Then rinse—the dirt floats away—and your wash has been soaked immaculately clean. Even the most soiled spots need only a few gentle rubs between the fingers to make them snowy white.

Goodbye old-time bar soap!

Rinso is a new kind of rich, mild soap—granulated. It is all you need on washday, even in hardest water—no bar soap, washing powders or chipped bar soap—just Rinso.

Rinso loosens the ground-in dirt and stains. It's fine for boiling, too, though boiling isn't necessary as Rinso whitens better than boiling—sterilizes, too! Fine for washing machines; recommended for safety, and for a whiter, cleaner wash, by 23 leading washing machine manufacturers.

Saves hands—saves clothes

No laundry soap is easier on hands or safer to use than Rinso. You could soak your finest white table cloth in Rinso for days without harm, for it contains no acids, harsh chemicals, or bleaches—nothing to injure white clothes or fast colors.

Clothes last much longer with Rinso, for it ends washboard scrubbing—the great cause of clothes wearing out. Get Rinso for small cost from your grocer. Follow simple directions on package.

The Red Seal is the dawn of a new day for women!

It is easy to keep house, easy to entertain guests, easy to live a pleasant life in a Red Seal Home—because full provision is made for the freest possible utilization of modern electrical service.

The Red Seal marks and identifies those homes which are wired in such a way that every possible comfort and advantage offered by electrical science and invention may be made use of.

The Red Seal is the official sign and symbol of the National Red Seal Plan which is operated by local electrical organizations such as this throughout the country.

The purpose of the plan is to develop and maintain a high standard of electrical installation—and to certify and identify this service for the benefit of the public.

Let us send you booklet giving full details of the National Red Seal Plan—and how we operate it here.

Foreign Interest In United States

Dr. Van Ess Tells Rotarians Some of His Experiences in Mesopotamia to Illustrate How Foreigners Keep Track of Us.

Rotary welcomed at its weekly luncheon Arthur Wicks who had returned from a trip to Florida and was entertained and enlightened by an address by Mrs. Lonsay, president of Y. M. C. A. Ladies Auxiliary, on the problems of immigration in multitude at a point and time the hungry ones the kind of food they crave—a problem that seems to have no solution.

The speaker of the day was the Rev. D. John Van Ess, for 26 years a missionary in Mesopotamia. Dr. Van Ess devoted some time to stating that many published statements about affairs in Mesopotamia and elsewhere was propaganda, the facts distorted by someone for some purpose, and illustrated this by an account of the experiences of a Chicago newspaper man during the war who was taken to general headquarters as a guest as there were things it was not deemed by the military authorities wise for him to know. The authorities saw to it that the newspaper man saw and heard only the things they wanted him to see and hear.

There are many ways death may enter one's home, said Dr. Van Ess. It may be a gang of gunmen at the door, as they do it in Chicago, or it may be typhoid germs in the dishrag under the sink. An article in the Atlantic Monthly was cited as an example of propaganda disguised as facts. Much is expected by the world of America. Our humanitarianism is the quality that has impressed itself, and we must bear in mind our obligations to the world. The world knows of us and of our acts. In a holy city in Mesopotamia where the speaker was the guest of a high church dignitary of Mohammedanism shortly after the death of President Harding he was asked his opinion of President Coolidge, and of how Mr. Coolidge would get along with Senator Lodge, and was given statistics of bootleg-placed people are informed or conditions here.

LAST NIGHT on THE RADIO

With little static and the buzzer on for only five minutes, from 7:30 to 7:35, radio reception last night showed vast improvement, although not yet up to the average. With the exception of WTAM western stations were weak but with fine programs on in New York, Schenectady, Hartford, Springfield, Tarrytown, Providence and Boston there was plenty to entertain everyone except the DX bands.

Station WDBZ was again voiceless. It is understood that Mr. Neushane has resigned and the station is without an announcer and program director.

KYW is showing unusual strength lately and comes through when other Chicago stations cannot be brought in.

It is reported that somebody got time signals, very faint, from KDKA last night. The disappearance of KDKA is one of the great mysteries of radio.

Dates of three more radio concerts, which will close its present series, to be given on consecutive Friday evenings, beginning March 12, are announced by the Victor Talking Machine Company. Each of these concerts, to be broadcast over the network of the Radio Corporation of America, will be distinctly different in character, it is stated. The concert of March 12, will present twelve artists of national-wide reputation in concert, oratorio and vaudeville. They are Lambert Murphy, tenor; Elsie Baker, contralto; Royal Daddman, baritone; and Lucy Isabelle Marsh, soprano; and the "Eight Victor Artists." The Peerless Quartet headed by Henry Burr, comprises half of this group, and Billy Murray's comedy is another outstanding feature.

Mean Sneak Thieves

A man calling himself Earl Jackson appeared to the congregation of a Wichita (Kan.) church to pray for his deliverance from evil. After his confession of sin and repentance had brought tears to the eyes of many and a purse of $25 had been taken up for him, while he told of being left an orphan and wandering from place to place, and otherwise held the attention of the worshippers, his partner on the outside looted all the motor cars parked along the street by members of the congregation.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe, or even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

It is a mistake to think of colds and see how quickly it brings relief. Mustering made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the most powerful plaster, does the work without blistering, does a warm band as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

NEW PALTZ.

New Paltz, March 4.—The Standard Bearers' Society will meet with Mrs. Florence Kaiser on Main street Friday afternoon, March 5.

On Sunday afternoon a Dodge sedan skidded on the corner of South Chestnut street and Hasbrouck avenue and ran in a telephone pole. No one was hurt and the damage to the car was slight. A badly bent fender and bumper were straightened enough for the party to be on their way in the course of half an hour.

Mrs. C. H. Vail is spending some time out of town.

The Rev. Lucas Boeve of Kingston will be the speaker at the united Lenten service at the Reformed Church on Wednesday night.

Pomona Grange will meet at New Paltz on March 5, at 10:30 a. m. There will be reports from delegates to the State Grange. The officers for 1926 will be installed by State Master S. L. Strivings.

Mrs. Maria Vradenburgh observed her 88th birthday in a quiet way on Monday, February 22. A number of the Seekers' Class of the Methodist Sunday school, of which Mrs. Vradenburgh is a member, called to see her during the day. She received gifts which included a potted plant and a bouquet of carnations from the class and from friends and neighbors. Callers also came from New York, Brooklyn, Highland and New Hurley.

Mrs. Elizabeth Van Keuren, who has been visiting her niece, Beatrice Thorne, at Oceanside, L. I., and her sister at Coscob, Conn., since January 1, expects to return home March 1.

Mrs. Louis D. R. LeFevre of Forest Glen is spending some time with her brother, the Rev. DuBois LeFevre, and family, of Meadville, Pa.

Miss Eleanor Palmer will have charge of the Beauty Shop for a time.

The Misses Bessie and Agnes Armstrong spent the week end with their aunt at Accord.

Miss Lucile Coddington, recently entertained friends from Yonkers.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred DuBois spent the week end in New York city.

Miss Sallie Wells of Newburgh spent the week end at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. C. F. Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Vandenberg enjoyed a trip to Washington, D. C., the past week.

Mrs. Judson Schoonmaker is spending two weeks with her mother at New Rochelle.

Mrs. Charles DuBois, Mrs. Nelson McElhenney and Mrs. John Moran of Gardiner were recent guests of Dr. and Mrs. Branner on Upper Main street.

Miss Hilda Roberts of Gouverneur spent the week end with Miss Alice DuBois at her home in Marlborough. Both are seniors at the New Paltz Normal.

Robert Coy is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Coy in Marlborough. G. Edwin DuBois of New York city was a recent visitor in town.

On last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. William Schumacher entertained a few friends in honor of Mr. Schumacher's birthday.

Miss Thelma Shapelle and friend spent the week end in town.

Charles Hart has been spending a few days with Fred Osterhout and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Keenan of Newark, N. J., spent the week end with Herbert LeFevre and family.

The New Paltz High School Seniors have organized their class with Helmar Petersen as president.

Miss Charlotte Walker of Brooklyn and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker of Albany have been spending a few days with Warren Tansy and family.

Miss Catherine Bell entertained friends from Port Jervis on Sunday. Miss Magdalene Brooks of Brooklyn has been visiting her grandmother, who is ill.

Mrs. Frank Ronk was given a surprise party on Washington's Birthday by a number of her friends.

The third session of the Alumni Association of the New Paltz Normal School will be held at the Waldorf Astoria in New York next Saturday night in the grand ball room. The speakers will be Principal Lawrence Vandenberg of New Paltz Normal, Dr. Mervin Scudder, principal of the Scudder School, New York city, and Dr. Ned Dombrowski of the State Department, who has direct charge of the Normal.

Miss Philip Dero was hostess to the N. Y. C. Club Tuesday afternoon. Several couples from Hightstown attended the dance at Grange Hall Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Judson Adde of Toms River spent the week end in town.

The first of a series of four subscription dances will be held in summer hall Monday night.

Foods
that are best for the growth years are now definitely known
—are your growing children getting them?

Mothers who are with their little children every single day, often do not realize the important physical changes that take place during the years 2 to 6. The body weight is nearly doubled, the height is increased twelve inches and the heart multiplies its weight four times.

Mothers everywhere are learning that there is a definite and approved knowledge about child feeding.

Only recently, however, has it been realized by child health specialists themselves that the early growth years is the most important period of physical development.

The greatest attention, they declare, should be focused at this time upon the selection of certain foods, growth foods, that contain just the right essentials for growth and health during these vital years.

More quantity of food does not promote either growth or health in children.

Neither does a large variety of food, if it fails to include an adequate proportion of the elements most needed during the growth years.

Mother's Oats, with milk, contains a liberal amount of the one essential which contributes more to growth in children than any other one element in food—the tissue-building substance known as protein. A name, by the way, which comes from the Greek word "proteus" and means "to hold first place."

Mothers should attach the utmost importance to these growth-promoting protein foods that children need especially during the growing age.

The one thing of great importance that mothers should know is that growing children cannot develop new body cells except from tissue-building foods.

It is, therefore, desirable to know the growth foods... those that contain protein in helpful amounts... and how much of the child's daily requirement is supplied by the amount you serve.

Mother's Oats with milk, one cup of each, furnishes 23% or nearly one-fourth of the amount of the tissue-forming protein needed daily during the growth years.

CURRENT OFFERINGS

AT THE THEATRES

Tonight will be the final one for the two big bargain photoplays at Reade's Kingston Theatre, when the William Fox screen version of "The Wheel," John Golden's stage success, has its last showing. It is one of the more dramas that has ever been projected on the screen. The story sweeps on at a pace that grips the most blasé audience. The other big photoplay is "Infatuation" with Corinne Griffith with an exceptionally strong cast Friday and Saturday will be screened "The Mannequin," Liberty Magazine's $50,000 prize story.

There is an exceptionally fine vaudeville bill playing at the Opera House for the week end, starting tonight, including Carls and Wilson in an acrobatic novelty of not. Hunt and his pals, Wallace & Burton in comedy songs and sketches, and The Spillers Revue, with 15 people. The photoplay is "The Wife Who Wore a Hat," featuring Irene Rich and Hunter Gordon. The Orpheum Theatre, The Nifties of Broadway, with Irving Lewis and a big supporting company of talented vaudeville artists, with "Pursued," showing Dorothy Drew as the screen feature.

At the Auditorium the attraction is "Oh, Doctor," starring Reginald Denry in his latest photoplay of new thrills and laughs, from the story by Harry Leon Wilson.

CHINESE INDUSTRIES THREATENED BY FIRE

Chinese, Nass, March 4.—This city, scene of a conflagration in 1904, had a fire scare early today when flames swept the $30,000 plant of the O. K. Shank Manufacturing Company, a three-story wooden building, in the "dangar zone." Flames insured the huge and Cottle Lumber yards but were quickly checked. At one time the Atlantic and McManus Factory nearby was threatened.

The fire started in the boiler room of the Shank plant. An operator in the fire was called out.

James E. DuBois spent the week end at Bruyn Harbours.

Cake Sale Saturday. The Lake Yee Club will hold a cake sale on Saturday afternoon March 6, at Van Wageningen's. The proceeds of the sale will be for the benefit of the service fund of the club.

T. W. H. A. Meeting. The T. W. H. A. will meet the evening at 8 o'clock at the club.

Training Camp Drive Started

Washington, March 4.—Rivalling the better Liberty Loan drive of 1917 and 1918, a nationwide educational campaign touching every county in the United States, is launched today by the Military Training Camps.

An appeal to interest the youth of the country and their parents in the government's summer program for the 1926 Citizens' Military Training Camps.

Already patriotic citizens of local prominence in more than ninety percent of the three thousand counties of the United States have volunteered to be a letter chairman of a county committee now forming in their localities in an announcement by the association said.

With more summer camps planned this year than ever before, this huge organization will be utilized by the government to enroll thirty-five thousand candidates for the camps by June 1. The candidates are to come from school, factory or farm and represent each community's choicest youth.

Working plans of the educational campaign contemplate, it was said, the appointment in each state and county of a corps of civilian aids to the secretary of war who are to direct the progress of the work within their territories, in conjunction with army officials.

Activities of the Military Training Camps Association have been worked out to supplement and not duplicate operations of the government in the C. M. T. C. enrollment campaign, the association's program comprising talks, parades, posters and other local movements as well as providing doctors for examining applicants and information for interested persons.

Celebrate Feast Of Purim Friday

Temple Emanuel will celebrate the feast of Purim with a special Purim service at 8 o'clock on Friday, March 5, at 7:30 o'clock.

The children of the Sabbath school will be assisted as they do on this occasion, and will also give a number of recitations about Purim. There will also be some local talent from this city, who are well known, who will participate in the program. There will be solos by Mrs. Helen Stern Mann, accompanied by Miss Ruby Markson, piano solos by Master Milton Janz, solos by H. E. Lazarus, Herman La Tour and Harry Clearwater. It is hoped the evening will be one of joy to all who will be there. All are welcome.

IDEA OF NUMERALS FROM HUMAN HAND?

That Theory at Least as Good as Any Other.

No one knows how our numerals originated. A good guess which he acknowledges is only a guess, is made by Charles Pomeroy Sherman in the Mathematics Teacher.

The first use of the numerals of which we have record, Mr. Sherman tells us, is in India, and dates back to the end of the Second century of our era. In the Ninth century an Arabian mathematician wrote a work on algebra in which he used for numbers the signs which he had obtained in India or Afghanistan.

By 1400 those numerical signs in use in Europe were identical with those in use by us today, and they gradually supplanted, in general use, the clumsy Roman signs and the still more clumsy Greek.

Thus much for what we know, says Mr. Sherman, "but we do not know who was the originator of those signs nor what was in his mind when he formed these seemingly arbitrary shapes. Therefore, as we do not know—as we have no information whatever—it is allowable for us to conjecture what, probably, was then in his mind.

"The savage looked at his hand, and saw four fingers and a thumb, five short straight lines; and thus he learned to count up to, perhaps, five. He looked at the other hand, and saw five more short straight lines; and thus learned, less often, to count up to ten. In place of his fingers he used, to illustrate his numbers, small stones or short pieces of stick or short straight scratches in the sand or earth or on the rock.

"The Roman also looked at his hand, but he saw also the V-shape between the forefinger and the extended thumb, and conceived the idea, to save making five straight marks, to join two straight lines at the end, thus imitating that V shape, and to make that V stand for the whole five straight lines.

"One day holding his two hands before him, palms outward, and happening to draw them together until the extended thumbs crossed, he conceived the further idea, to save making ten straight marks, or two V-shapes, to cross two straight lines in the middle, thus imitating those crossed thumbs, and to make that X stand for the whole ten straight lines. So the savage and the Roman used short straight lines arbitrarily placed, for their numerical notation."

Electric Light Bulbs

The dim bulb may draw as much electrical power as a bulb the light from which is brilliant. This applies in the case of a high-powered bulb, the strength of which is diminishing. What one regards as economical enters into the problem in another way. From the standpoint of actual expenditure of money, dim electrical bulbs which are new are probably less economical than the brighter ones.

TERRIBLE ECZEMA GOES QUICKLY

Strong, Powerful Yet Safe, Surgeon's Prescription Called "Moore's Emerald Oil" Has Astonished Physicians.

There is one simple and inexpensive way to reduce the danger of swollen veins and bunions and get them down to normal and that is to apply Moore's Emerald Oil night and morning, using the "Moore's Bandage" to support them during the day. People who have painful "swollen veins" should not neglect them for they sometimes fester and cause much misery and loss of time.

Moore's Emerald Oil besides being a marvellous antiseptic that it at once destroys germs and poisons caused in eczema in such a remarkable healing agent that eczema, hemorrhoids, salt thrush and other inflammatory skin eruptions are in a few days.

For many years it has been used for boils, ulcers, chancres and open sores, and with the most perfect success. With such medicinal qualities which are guaranteed, can easily be used as a fester that gives instant relief for use in all of the above diseases, complaints.

Your druggist and William F. Jendrick will be glad to supply you.

Moral Herein Is "Do Your Own Love Making"

It is one of the strange inconsistencies of human nature that, while some men would walk up to the guns of an enemy without a tremor, they find a terrible inclination to turn tail and fly when they are called on to face the battery of a pair of sweet eyes and ask a simple question to which they have reason to expect a gratifying answer.

This is why so many thousands of lovers seek courage in pen and ink and distance, and make the postman the innocent ambassador of their desires; but it is scarcely conceivable that a man who has this resource open to him should choose the alternative of getting a valorous and obliging friend to propose for him.

That there is a decided element of danger in a proposal by proxy was proved by the evidence given in a recent breath of promise case.

The defendant sought to excuse himself by declaring that his proposal was not a serious one. It appeared that an intimate friend was deeply in love with the fair plaintiff, but could not nerve himself to put his fate to the test. The defendant had volunteered, "just as a joke," to take his place and make the best of his client's case. Unhappily he carried the joke too far; for, instead of laying his friend's heart at the lady's feet, he laid his own, and, to his amazement, was accepted.

It proved an expensive jest, however, for it cost him $1,500 to disentangle himself from its consequences; and no doubt if ever again invited to plead a friend's love suit, he will be justified in retorting, "Do it yourself."

In another case, where a defendant sought to excuse himself on the ground that a friend had proposed for him without his full consent, the engagement, which had been weakly confirmed by subsequent letters and presents, was pronounced binding, and when a verdict for $1,500 was awarded to the plaintiff, the judge humorously suggested that "as he had wooed by proxy he might see his way to pay by proxy," which, alas! is quite another thing.

Cheaper Fuel From Dust

If you pump cornstarch with air into an inclosed tube and ignite the mixture with an electric spark, it will explode. Recent government experiments have shown in dust great explosive energy going to waste. It is this that is utilized in a new fuel announced recently, says Popular Science Monthly.

Fuel made from dust of scourings, not only will make use of waste material, but will reduce a big fire hazard in manufacturing plants, explains W. A. Noel, an engineer of the United States bureau of chemistry. It would solve the problem of cheap fuel for factories, he adds, for it may be used in steam or gas engines, Wood, coal, leather, chemicals, cork, rubber, sugar, straw, corn and cottonseed are but a few of hundreds of products from which the inflammable dust may be obtained.

Dr. W. B. Cobbett of the United States bureau of standards, using extraordinarily delicate instruments of his own invention, has concluded that 100 degrees below zero is just ordinary temperature in our frigid neighbor's climate. Almost every night, in winter, he says, it goes down to 20 degrees Centigrade or 130 degrees Fahrenheit.

Victories for Chinese Regulars

National Army at Peking Drives Back Attacking Forces and Cabinet Is Organized After Slow Struggle.

Peking, March 4.—The Chinese Government at Peking claimed two victories today.

The National Army drove back attacking forces and succeeded in consolidating its lines around Tsang Chow, thus effecting its first decisive victory.

At the same time political forces conquered several months of dilatory tactics and organized a cabinet keeping E. T. Wang as Foreign Minister and selecting Chiao-Tan-Yao, former Minister of War, as Premier.

Fighting is now in progress north and south of Tientsin and in Honan. The government has admitted the defeat of the Second National Army in Honan but it was pointed out that the defeat was more apparent than real.

It was stated that the Nationalist Troops withdrew in order to await the mobilization of Feng-Yuh-Shang's former troops, at Kalgan, 40,000 of whom will proceed to Honan immediately.

The government is being urged to appoint General Feng as a special commissioner to pacify the agitated provinces of Shantung, Shensi and Honan.

Red Army Will Not Be Reduced

Must Have a Mighty Red Army Says War Commissar, Who Gives Complete Details of The Soviet Army's Strength.

Moscow, March 4.—Soviet Russia has no intention of reducing her army at present, War Commissar Voroshiloff declared today in a speech before army leaders and government officials, in reply to foreign rumors that Russia has a huge army and is increasing it.

The war commissar gave the most complete details of the Soviet army's strength which have ever been made public.

"The Soviet Union, having cut its army from 25,500,000 to 562,000 men does not intend to increase it, but it won't decrease it either," said Voroshiloff.

"Our yearly levy is from 950,000 to 1,000,000 men.

"If we took the whole contingent our army would reach 1,500,000, but we do not accept the whole levy because of financial conditions.

"We can't ignore the fact that no matter how peacefully inclined are 'Messrs. Imperialists' wars can not be avoided. We must have a mighty Red army."

Mr. Stewart is a young man of attractive personality and is a gospel singer and chorus conductor as well as a pastor. Inspirational services will be held on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, to be followed by two days of community visitation, and finally brought to a close by rally services all day on Sunday, March 14. All will receive a cordial welcome at these meetings.

WALES SAID HE WOULD NEVER BE ENGLAND'S KING

London, March 4.—The Prince of Wales made up his mind when a small child that he would never be King of England, according to a tale published today in the second volume of "Uncensored Recollections," by an anonymous author.

The book states that King Edward once told the Prince of Wales, who was then a small boy:

"You must be a good boy, David, for if you are not when you become King, they will cut off your head as this did with King Charles."

The small prince at said to have replied:

"Oh, I don't care, I never shall be King."

FARM NOTES

The book of Enoch is an apocryphal book, first mentioned in the Epistle of Jude 14-15 and quoted by Clement of Alexandria, Origen and Tertullian. It purports to be a series of revelations of God made to Enoch and given a history of the Kingdom of God and the secret origin of laws of nature. It was much quoted in Jewish and Christian writings during the first five centuries after Christ; but disappeared with the exception of a few fragments about 1800 A. D. The book furnishes information concerning Jewish theology and speculation during the centuries immediately preceding the Christian era.—Kansas City Star.

Just as the member of a strong team has and think precisely as men do, so we find many animals, birds and insects thinking, and it is this capacity to benefit by the teachings of experience, the utilization of memories and the power to reason clearly, quickly and logically that enables them to find ways and means for securing themselves in comfort during the cold days of winter.

They do this in innumerable ways, and many species appear to exhibit greater intelligence and foresight than man in preparing for the winter season.

Doings in the Field of Sports

On water. The March 4. Brooklyn's four heaviest hitters, Jack Fournier, Milton Fletek, Dick Cox and Zack Wheat, were expected to put in their first appearance here today.

Tampa Fla., March 4. Convinced that Dutch Roether is not going to come to terms with the Senators, Clark Griffith was offering the left-hander today for trade or what have you. He has offered Roether to John McEwen for one of the best in the league, Hugh McQuinn, according to reliable reports.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4. Declaring he "never was in better shape," "Duke" Ruth today prophesied the Yanks would win the pennant this year in a walk-over. "I should have the best season ever had if that means anything," he added.

Ruth rated the Athletics second. Sarasota, Fla., March 4.—Three of the four hold-outs of the New York Giants are expected to come to terms before the week is over. Jack Scott is scheduled to sign today, and George Kelly and Irish Meusel are said to be on their way from the coast for the same purpose. Bill Terry still shows no signs of coming to terms.

Biggest Year For Baseball

Is Ahead Says Landis, High Commissioner of National Pastime—Decries Other Sports Help Baseball.
New Orleans, March 4.—"Baseball's greatest year is right ahead," declared K. M. Landis, high commissioner of the national pastime, in an interview here.

"The sport is moving in favor of baseball," he continued. "We reached a new peak in 1925. We shall shatter that record this year. The other day I was riding in a street car in Chicago. I took notice of what the people were reading. Eight out of ten of them were perusing the dope from the southern training camps."

A friend of mine recently told me that baseball is more popular than football. He pointed out the fact that as many as 20,000 persons often attend gridiron contests. My answer to this statement is that 500,000 persons would attend the opening world's series game each fall if there were seats to accommodate that many fans.

"It is necessary to turn down thousands of applications, while hundreds of thousands of persons do not even apply for tickets as they know there is not a chance of their getting them."

"I would like to devise a system by which the fans who patronize the games all season would get first chance at world's series games. It was suggested that the fans keep their rain checks and that they be rated according to the number of rain checks in their possession. The trouble with such a plan would be that most persons throw away their rain checks. Boys would then collect them and sell them to persons seeking tickets to the big series."

"Do you believe golf, tennis or other outdoor sports are cutting in on baseball?"
"I think they are helping baseball," came back the quick response.

"A man who formerly never left his office in the afternoon finds he can do better work by playing an occasional game of golf. He discovers his business does not need all of his time and so he will go out to the ball park now and then."

Judge Landis, who is touring the southern training camps, said he was impressed by the spirit shown by the Red Sox here.

Fast Bouts at Elks' Smoker

Monday evening at the Elks' Home on Fair street there will be staged another smoker under the auspices of the local Elks, which promises to eclipse all other successes. The boxing end of the program should be one of the fastest affairs seen in some time, with Joe Vordick of Saugerties and John Carpano of this city in the feature bout.

In addition to this scrap there will be other bouts that should go over big, bringing together Charles Fisher and Mike Day, the latter from East Kingston, Vince Hart and Frenchy DeWig and Pete Paolo and Young Vollmer.

Wills Not in Good Standing

New York, March 4.—Jack Dempsey wins on point!
After six years of futile oratory, he stood today virtually free from the menace of Harry Wills through the tacit withdrawal by the New York State Athletic Commission of its patronage of the colored man's cause.

This statement is not to be confused with an unconfirmed report, appearing yesterday, to the effect that Wills is to be side-tracked here in favor of Gene Tunney.

The writer's information came to him directly through an unguarded remark, dropped by an official of high estate.

The commission doesn't admit this. It doesn't have to. Beyond any question, Wills and the local board are permanently estranged. However, this didn't occur through any action taken here, as suggested. It happened out in Niles, Mich. Last summer Harry and Wills, with his little fountain pen, by signing with Dempsey over the head of the local board, Wills cut himself loose from his only professional friend.

Harry Wills was held in high esteem by the local commission, which was embarrassing Dempsey by forcing the colored man's claims to a title that Dempsey had to get back in official favor here if he wanted a chance at this serious bout. He took Wills into a corner and the latter made the commission look silly by securing for a match out of the local jurisdiction.

Whether Gene Tunney will be nominated as the commission's newest fair-haired boy remains to be seen. The writer is inclined to doubt it.

Just across the river however, is a 90,000 capacity stadium where Dempsey and Tunney could mingle freely and with utter tranquility and lack of restraint. Of course, the board has an edict on its hands, forbidding Rickard and other promoters to do business with Dempsey. But show the boys a million dollars on the loose and they will get around with great agility.

Hauser's Knee Bothers Him.
Port Myers, Fla., March 4.—Gloom hung over the Athletics' training camp today despite a snappy nine-inning game between the regulars and scrubs. Joe Hauser, Athletics' first baseman, will not be in the practice games for a while according to Manager Connie Mack. The first-sacker remained in his room because the knee cap he fractured last season bothered him.

GALLERY MARSHALS DISCONCERT STARS

Shouts From Officials Disturb More Than Spectators.

More disturbance of golfers during important matches comes from gallery marshals and golf officials than from spectators, said a leading tournament player in commenting on the recent charges that Bill Meheron at the San Antonio open rattled Bobby Cruickshank on the final green so that he took four putts and missed one of ten inches to the Macdonald Smith for the title.

This player cited several instances in which official persons had disconcerted players at critical moments, but did not recall any case in which an unfairly gallery had offended seriously. Players always are expecting some slight motion and mumbling by spectators and steel themselves to ignore it, but the outburst of an official at a critical moment is so unexpected that it has the effect of "spoiling a stroke."

A shining example of this was the play at the thirty-sixth hole in the final of the national amateur championship at Flossmoor club, Chicago, two years ago. Jess Sweetser of New York, defending his title against Max Marston of Philadelphia, was at the lower corner of the sloping eighteenth green of the long hole in two splendid shots and had to go down in two more to stave off defeat.

It was a tense moment and the large gallery was a trifle restless but made no unseemly movement or noise. Sweetser set himself for the task of chipping the ball up the grade dead to the hole 30 yards away. Just as he was ready, after careful preparation, to hit the ball an official yelled "Fore."

The champion threw down his club and whirled around with a despairing look, as though he had been struck in the face by a friend.

He had been upset by a digestive disturbance during the round, but despite this and the act of the official, he composed himself enough to make the shot and then sink a half stymied sidehill putt to carry the match to extra holes. It might have been the reflex of this mental jolt that caused him to misplay the thirty-eighth hole and yield the title to Marston.

TELLS HOW TO AVOID LAMENESS AFTER EXERCISE
Athlete advises a simple method of keeping muscles in trim.

Men who put their muscles to the strain of hard exercise have learned a quick, sure way of taking out pain and stiffness.

"Lameness work," writes a well-known athlete, "I have used since I was a boy for the past five years and found it most effective for soreness caused by vigorous exercise. Also an incomparable remedy for stiff neck." (Name and address of writer given on request.)

It is marvelous how aches and stiffness in lower muscles yield to the magic of Sloan's. Just a little patting on lightly, and aching and blood tingles through the hurt place. Away go "tadpole-pain." New tissue gets new nourishment. Sore muscles loosen up and stop aching. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All drug stores—25 cents.

MULLIGAN IS BEATIN BY SECOND RATER
New York, March 4.—Only a comparatively few hours after he was named by the New York State Athletic Commission the leading challenger for Mickey Walker's heavyweight title, Tommy Mulligan, of England, today stood as a disconcerted fighter. He took on George Levine, a second rate, at the Broadway Arena, Brooklyn, last night as he warm up bout and it became so hot that Levine got the decision at the end of twelve furious rounds.
